BISMARCK AND HIS KING.

The Man of Iron Deeply Affected by the Profuse Praise of the Kaiser.

The Prince Will Advise the New Chancellor—Fierce Jealousy of the Press.

FREDERICHSHAGEN, March 26.—When the Emperor arrived at the castle at the head of the troops rain was falling. He sat on his horse and addressed Bismarck, who stood by the side of his carriage in front of the castle where the troops were drawn up. The Emperor said the troops which participated in the ceremonies represented all the German people, and added: "I could not find a better present for you than a sword, a symbol of the instrument which you helped my grandfather to forge, sharpen and wield." The soldiers then presented arms and shouted "Bismarck, hurrah!" Bismarck was deeply affected and was in tears when he said he was unable to thank the Kaiser for the unparalleled honor.

In proposing Prince Bismarck's health at the luncheon, Emperor William said: "The eightieth birthday of your Serene Highness coincides with the twenty-fifth year of the German empire. The congratulations of the army, rendered sacred to the memory of the mighty struggle, I was able to offer you before the troops. It is not to the great statesman, but to the officer that my fervent wishes go out to-day. Three mottoes appear to me to be especially appropriate to this day. First, the confirmation verse, 'Whatsoever we do, do it heartily as to the Lord and not unto men.' This betokens the immovable trust in God by which your Highness accomplished your mighty task, and which, moreover, the army has never denied. Second motto is the word Nevertheless. This was the expression of the brave Count Mansfield when boldly, with sword in his mailed hand, he confronted an overwhelming number of foes. Your Highness often proved the truth of this motto, especially in that time of weighty resolutions for my grandfather, when he proudly pointed to his officers. The third motto, Spectemur Ugento (let us be judged by our action), which my English dragoon regiment wrote proudly on its standard when, after riding down the enemy's square, they captured their colors. This motto can serve as an answer to everything that your Highness' enemies and enviers may say or do. But we, who joyfully and admiringly feel your Highness' desire to complete the splendid work commenced under the glorious old Kaiser, one and all join in the cry which all Germany, from the snow clad Alps to the dykes of the Baltic, where the breakers thunder and roar, will shout with glowing hearts."

BERLIN, March 26.—It is learned that the Kaiser during luncheon at Friedrichshagen to-day referred to the political situation. He said that he was fully determined to dissolve the reichstag and that Count von Waldersee would become chancellor shortly. His Majesty has ordered Count von Waldersee to confer with Prince Bismarck regarding the line of policy to be followed. The Vossische Zeitung, while regretting the decision of the reichstag with regard to Prince Bismarck, reminds its readers that the house only acted out its own measure to the ex-Chancellor. The paper recalls Bismarck's wrathful refusal to allow the vote of condolence passed by the U. S. congress on the death of Herr Lakes to be laid on the table in the reichstag although there was no constitutional objection to such action, and says: "A man who carries personal animosity beyond the grave would not have consented to congratulate an opponent on the occasion of that opponent's eightieth birthday."

The Daily News Berlin correspondent says: "The probable consequences of the division in the reichstag are much discussed in the lobby of parliament. It cannot be said that cheerful spirits prevail among the majority. Centrists especially begin to see that a blunder has been made. The centre party was on the verge of attaining friendly terms with the government and of realizing all its desires. Now it is further than ever from the desired goal. The radicals admit the critical character of the situation, although they claim that it is improved as far as they are concerned by the Emperor's telegram to Prince Bismarck, in which he condemned the action of the reichstag. The telegram will be used to alarm the electors, who will be told that their constitutional rights are being attacked."

THE CODLIN MOTH.

A Remedy Prescribed by the U. S. Minister of Agriculture.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—In the course of an interview on the subject of the paris green treatment for codlin moth, Secretary Morton said: "The demand for apples grown in the United States has always been in excess of the supply. The United Kingdom of Britain alone during the nine months ending September, 1894, paid the orchards of the United States $2,500,000. The greatest enemy to our export apple is the codlin moth. But the entire crop can be made worthless if the orchards of the United States will use the following receipts: Use paris green at the rate of 1 pound to 150 gallons of water. Weigh sufficient poison for the capacity of the land used and make it into thin paint with a small quantity of water and add powdered or quick lime equal to the weight of the poison used, mixing thoroughly. The lime takes up the free arsenic and removes the danger of scalding. Strain the mixture into the spray tank, taking care to pulverize and wash all the poison through the strainer. During the operation of spraying see that the liquid is agitated with sufficiency frequency to prevent the settling of the poison. Let the first spraying follow within a week after the falling of the blossoms of either apple or pear, and follow this with a second treatment just before the fruit turns down on the stem, or when it is from a quarter to half an inch in diameter. The first spraying reaches the eggs laid by the moth in the flower end of the fruit shortly after the falling of the blossoms, and the second the later eggs laid by belated moths. Do not spray trees when in bloom, and if a washing rain immediately follows treatment repeat the application.

A MUCH WANTED MAN.

Arrest of a Multi-Named Diamond Swindler Also Charged With Robbery and Murder.

TORONTO, March 26.—An alleged diamond swindler named John C. Coleman, alias Hutton, alias Smyth, alias Johnson, alias Miller, was arrested at St. Mary's on Saturday and brought here. He was arraigned in the police court charged with receiving a quantity of diamonds from F. W. Ellis & Co., this city, by fraud and false pretenses. The prisoner elected to be tried under the name of Hutton and asked for a remand until Thursday, which was granted. The detective department is deluged with telegrams asking information in regard to the swindler. His real name is said to be Abel Rothschild, and he was originally a drummer for a Cincinnati firm. Pinkerton's Chicago agency notified the police here that Hutton is wanted in Marshall, Texas, for the robbery and murder of his mistress, some fourteen years ago. The Southern express company, and Wells Fargo, who lost heavily by Hutton's fraudulent practices, have taken steps to secure his extradition when the Canadian authorities are through with him.

ENTERPRISING CONGRESSMEN.

Traffic in Public Documents and Seeds Received for Distribution—One to Be Exposed.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Sales of public documents by retreating congressmen have never reached such proportions as within the past month. The unusually large number of defeated members accounts for this, together with the increasing output of the government printing office. These publications are intended to be distributed free by congressmen to such of their constituents as yearn for the character of the information furnished by the government. It is nevertheless true that nearly every book or pamphlet issued by the government can be purchased in Washington from the men who deal in this form of literature. They are obtained by the dealers from the congressmen themselves, or from some clerk or friend to whom they have been presented.

Every Congress authorizes the publication of thousands of volumes, most of which are of no more use to the average member of the House than so many blocks of wood would be. For instance, the last Congress allowed each member of the House something over 900 copies of the report of the secretary of agriculture. Thousands of such reports are sold at the close of every session for only a few cents apiece, and are retained in the rural districts for from 20 to 25¢ a volume. Each Congress that assembles increases the number of publications placed at the disposal of members, and each session augments the business of the dealers. It has now become so extensive that public attention is being attracted to it.

Secretary Morton, before he leaves the agricultural department, intends to abolish as far as possible the free distribution of seed. He says this business has been so much abused that it has become an evil instead of a benefit, and he intends to put a stop to it. His next annual report to congress will contain the names of several congressmen who have actually sold their quota of seeds for a monetary consideration. It has been common practice for members from large cities to change their quota of seed with their colleagues who represent agricultural districts, but the fact has just been brought to light that an extensive business has been carried on by brokers of congress seed for members of congress. Secretary Morton, however, has caught one member in a trap, but who this member is will not be known until the secretary's annual report is made public. Some officials of the agricultural department say he is from Tennessee, while others maintain that he represents a New York city district. He sold his quota of seed to a broker for $75, receiving a check, which he indorsed and cashed. This check was turned over to the secretary by the alleged broker, who was a special agent of the department, and Mr. Morton now has both the order of the congressman for the seed and the indorsed check in payment for the seed. The signatures are identical. This whole matter will be printed in the secretary's report.

The last agricultural appropriation bill provided for $180,000 for seed distribution for the fiscal year of 1896, $20,000 of which is to pay the expenses incident to the publication of the farmers' quota, notwithstanding the secretary suggests that only $500 be allotted to each of the forty-eight experiment stations to purchase new and improved varieties of seeds, cuttings, etc.

THE IMMIGRATION RESTRICTIONS.

ROME, March 26.—The Italian emigration commission have adjudged that the steamship agents shall indemnify two Italian emigrants who were refused permission to land at New York and were sent back to this country by the authorities. The decision of the commission states that the agents were guilty of a breach of the law in permitting the embarkation of the emigrants. The judgment has been communicated to the authorities at Washington, who replied with a message of thanks to the Italian officials for their co-operation in enforcing the American law.

THE BLACK DEATH.

LONDON, March 26.—A Hongkong dispatch says the bubonic plague has appeared among the natives of Kow Loon near Hongkong. Four incurable cases have been reported.

GOLD FOR AMERICA.

LONDON, March 26.—The Daily News will say in the morning that a large shipment of gold to America is likely to be made to-morrow. The withdrawal of cash from the market to-day is believed to be connected with the shipment.

CAPITAL NOTES.

Sir C. H. Tupper Annoyed Because His Advice as to Dissolution Was Not Followed.

Dr. Montague's Portfolio—Trent Canal Tenders—Cold Storage for New Atlantic Liners.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

OTTAWA, March 26.—The fact transpired this evening that several days ago Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper asked to be relieved of the portfolio of Minister of Justice, and since then he has taken no part in the business of the department, though attending the meetings of the cabinet as usual. Sir Charles has had no difference of opinion with his colleagues as to the general policy of the government, and it was his report on the Manitoba school question upon which they acted. He did, however, differ from them with reference to the action subsequently taken, in calling a session of parliament instead of dissolving the house. A gentleman thoroughly posted in political affairs said to-night that it is understood Sir Charles takes the ground that the course the government should have adopted was to immediately appeal to the country on the school issue, that being in his opinion the correct constitutional course to follow. On the other hand it is said that Sir Mackenzie Bowell differed from this opinion, and it being one of the prerogatives of the Premier to decide when dissolution shall take place, he took the course which commended itself to his own judgment. In political circles hope is expressed that Sir Charles will withdraw his resignation.

Dr. Montague was sworn in as Secretary of State this afternoon. Hon. A. R. Dickey is now in Nova Scotia, called there by the illness of his mother. He will be sworn in as Minister of Militia immediately on his return.

Hon. J. C. Patterson remains in the ministry without portfolio until June, when he goes to Manitoba as lieutenant governor. The Premier authorizes the announcement that there is not the slightest truth in the report of differences between himself and Mr. Patterson, who has resigned by his doctor's orders and actually tendered his resignation to Sir John Thompson before the late Premier left for England.

In the specifications for the steam service between Canada, France and Belgium, which the department of trade and commerce is inviting, it is provided that the vessels must have cold storage accommodation. Eleven tenders have been received for the Peterboro to Lakeside division of the Trent canal.

A recent customs ruling states that horse and hair clippers are dutiable as "tools N. E. S." at 35 per cent.

The exports of hay from Canada to Great Britain last month amounted to 450 tons as against 1,136 in February of last year.

H. K. Dunn has been appointed clerk of customs at Westminster.

Loftus Browne, of the Victoria custom house, has been granted three months' leave of absence on account of ill health.

THE SCHOOL PROBLEM.

The Dominion Government's Communication Read to the Legislature—Premier Greenway Defers Making Any Comment.

WINNIPEG, March 26.—(Special)—The now famous "remedial order" of the Dominion government respecting the schools was read in the Manitoba legislature this afternoon. The reading occupied over an hour. Immediately at its conclusion Mr. A. F. Martin, a French Catholic member, urged that the government give notice at once of their intention to deal with the order. Premier Greenway replied that the house would certainly take the order into consideration, but he objected to any discussion until the document has been printed and its contents are thoroughly understood by every member. When it is printed, he said, notice will be given and a date fixed for its discussion.

This explanation did not satisfy Mr. Martin, and he rose to a question of privilege to assign urge his request. The ministers did not reply and other business was taken up. It is not likely that anything will be done in the matter till Thursday, as no motion can be made respecting the order until that time, except by a suspension of the rules of the house, which can only be done by concurrence. Many conjectures are heard as to the probable action of the government in the matter.

There is a rumor in circulation that the government will offer an option of purely secular schools, but Mr. Greenway in conversation to-day denied that any such action was contemplated. "Then," remarked your representative, "it may be inferred that the attitude of the government will be as indicated in the speech from the throne and the subsequent remarks of the Attorney-General in the house." "I think so," was the reply of the premier. It was elicited that the government will not introduce a bill embodying their reply to the order, but the answer will be expressed in a resolution. Both the government supporters and opposition members were in caucus last evening and while their decisions have not been learned it is understood that both parties decided on their course of action; and there is no doubt that an amendment will be moved to the resolution of the government.

Coal From Peru.

NEW YORK, March 26.—A number of well-known capitalists have held a conference at Philadelphia with J. M. Irigoyen, minister from Peru, with a view to forming a company to operate the extensive coal fields of Peru. A concession, it is said, has been granted to the promoters through the Peruvian minister providing a percentage of the profits are turned into the treasury. The company will organize with a capital of $1,000,000, and will operate the mines. The output will be shipped to points along the Pacific coast.

The U. S. Gov't Reports show Royal Baking Powder superior to all others.

NEWS OF THE PROVINCE.

Vancouver Aldermen Follow Victoria's Example—Fined for Illegal Fishing—A Chilliwack Suit.

Liberal Policy in Disfavor at Langley—A Cowichan Fish—Hayson's Lonely Death.

(Special to the Colonist.)

VANCOUVER.

VANCOUVER, March 26.—The city council have voted the Mayor $1,200, and will vote themselves salaries not to exceed $400 each at the next council meeting.

Joe Green fell fifty feet from a bridge near North Bend and landed on a rock. He is being carefully nursed in the city hospital and the doctors say he will recover.

M. A. Maclean, J. P., is very seriously ill, little hope being entertained of his recovery. Mr. Maclean was Vancouver's first mayor, and so closely associated with Vancouver's history that citizens are showing practical sympathy by aiding his family in their hour of need, and at the same time giving testimony of their appreciation of Mr. Maclean's worth as a citizen and pioneer of the Terminal City.

There is little doubt that an agreement will be arrived at shortly between the city and the tram company in regard to extending the tracks. The company now ask for but very few amendments of the city's original offer, and there is no doubt that the track on Robson street, towards English Bay—Vancouver's summer resort—will be laid this summer.

The Mission City council have forwarded a number of letters from different municipalities to the local government praying that the price of government land be reduced from $5 to $1 an acre.

The Liberals of Vancouver are considerably puzzled as to just where to place their candidate, Mr. Maxwell. They thought to amalgamate the Labor, McCarthy, Nationalist and Liberal interests, but Mr. Maxwell has accepted on the Liberal platform only. Mr. Donaldson says he will not promise not to come out as a straight McCarthyite against Mr. Maxwell. The latter is expected home in two weeks.

Joe Hayson was the name of the old man found dead in his shack on Oppenheimer street. He was subject to fits, and it was at first supposed that one of these had caused his death. Owing, however, to the position of the body and the articles in the room and a wound on his head, the coroner has decided to have a post mortem examination before proceeding with the inquest. Hayson was very feeble, and some hold the theory that he was murdered for money he was supposed to have in his possession.

WESTMINSTER.

NEW WESTMINSTER, March 26.—H. Stead, W. Kearley and A. Chalk were fined $5 each by Capt. Pittendrigh for fishing for sturgeon during illegal hours, and were sent for trial on a charge of fishing for sturgeon in prohibited waters.

Judge Spinks has reserved decision in the case of Paisley v. Municipality of Chilliwack. The plaintiff claims certain monies due under contract. The lawyer for the defence claims that the corporation seal was not affixed to the contract referred to. Plaintiff's lawyer contends that a certain sum having been paid on account of the contract, it had thus been acknowledged by the corporation. The case bears some resemblance to the famous suit of McLean Bros. v. Dr. J. McLaughlin, of Vancouver, which will build the required additions to the provincial asylum.

The Conservatives of Burnaby have elected delegates to the nominating convention.

NANAIMO.

NANAIMO, March 26.—Lack of shipping has caused the miners at Wellington to remain idle for the past few days.

J. H. Simpson will be recommended by the city council for the position of police magistrate.

DUNCAN.

DUNCAN, March 26.—Mr. G. F. Wake last week shot his fifth panther for this year—a great beast over eight feet in length. Amongst the phenomenal fish catches last week a huge Cowichan river trout of over nine pounds weight rose a victim to Mr. E. W. Shaw's rod.

The warm sun and yesterday's rain have almost dispersed the three or four inches of snow which fell on Friday and Saturday last.

The nomination for the Cowichan-Alberni election has been fixed for April 3, at the court house here.

LANGLEY.

LANGLEY, March 25.—The weather during the first ten days of March was exceptionally fine and bright, and added tongues and other spring flowers begin to show, while catkins appeared on the willows about the middle of February and many shrubs are now leafing out and in full bloom.

Up to and including the above date rain has fallen upon eleven days, the greatest amount registered for twenty-four hours being on the 19th and 20th when 0.725 inches fell. The rainfall in weeks has been as follows: From the 1st to the 7th inst., 0.030 inches; from the 7th to the 14th inst., 0.140 inches; from the 14th to the 25th, 2.207 inches, making a total to date of 2.377 inches. During the month of February there fell 6.834 inches, and in January 5.668 inches.

On the morning of the 23rd people were quite surprised to find some three inches and a half of snow had fallen during the night, but a bright clear day almost entirely dissipated the unwelcome spring visitor.

A meeting of the Langley Liberal-Conservative Association was held in Messrs. Riddell & Davidson's hall, Langley Prairie, on Saturday, the 23rd inst., at 3 o'clock p.m., to select delegates to the convention and transact any business brought forward. A very fair representation of the farmers were present. The president, Mr. Maxwell, occupied the chair, and after the minutes of the previous meeting had been read and approved letters were read from Mr. Cotton, of Vancouver, and Mr. Atkinson, of New Westminster, expressing regret that they were unable to be present. The constitution was read, and all who had not previously signed the same were invited to do so, when a large number of names were added to the roll of membership. The selection of delegates was then proceeded with, resulting in the following gentlemen being elected to represent Langley at the Liberal-Conservative convention, viz.: Messrs. Maxwell, Rawlinson, Brooker, Grey, Spears, Hawkins and Biggar, with Messrs. Wilson, Jardine and Brown as substitutes. This concluded the business portion of the meeting, and Mr. Bower, of Vancouver was introduced. Although suffering from a severe cold he gave a fair exposition of Liberal-Conservative principles. He showed most clearly wherein lay the strength of the present government and at the same time most tellingly pointed out the ruinous results that would follow were the Liberal policy or policies substituted therefor. He pointed out the necessity for concerted action to ensure the success looked for. After a hearty vote of thanks the meeting adjourned, to meet again at the call of the president.

Notices of a meeting to be held at Langley Prairie on the evening of Saturday, the 23rd inst., at which Mr. Sword, M. P., and W. A. Morrison, of New Westminster, were to expound the New Gospel of Free Trade as promulgated by Mr. Laurier, having been liberally posted, a good number braved the mud and rain, to hear how Mr. Laurier was going to pull the country from the slough of hard times. Judging, however, from the small number who remained to organize after the meeting closed, the exposition was not convincing. Although generally Mr. Sword is a welcome visitor to Langley yet while accorded a courteous hearing both he and Mr. Morrison could not but see that Langley does not wish any coquetting with the Liberal party, and in fact is quite satisfied to stand by those who had helped this infant country in her time of need.

HELD ON TWO COUNTS.

Captain Hunter Appeals Against a Fine Imposed But Another Charge at Once Laid.

Magistrate Macrae yesterday gave his decision in the case of Captain James Hunter, charged with supplying liquor to Indian Mary at Quatsino. The defendant was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $200 or to go to jail for three months. Mr. Gregory, for the defence, gave verbal notice that the case will be appealed. Captain Hunter was leaving the court room when he was called back and a charge of trading without a license was preferred against him.

Mr. Gregory protested against the charge being laid, as he was under the impression that it was the outcome of Hunter admitting in the witness box the fact before that he had no license for his schooner. Supt. Hussey, however, explained that the information upon which the charge was made was altogether independent of the liquor case. The hearing of the case was adjourned till Friday, and in the meantime a deposit of $100 in the hands of the police for Hunter's appearance. Pending the appeal in the liquor supplying case the provincial police held $200 of Hunter's money to cover his fine.

A SOUTH VICTORIA FARMER.

TO THE EDITOR:—Please allow me space to refer to the Weekly Times of the 15th of March, which publishes a letter by a person calling himself "A South Victoria Farmer" relating to the wild Irishman, as he calls him, of Stump Hollow. I wish to say to that farmer, whoever he is, that he shows very little knowledge of the farmers of South Victoria or the province of British Columbia. From his letter, he seems very much like a milk and water man whose only support is bran or shorts. He seems to think it is no loss to the farmers to have the market glutted with foreign products while those home-grown are spoiling on their hands, and that it is all right if only some merchant makes a profit while the farmers stand the loss. If there were many like this South Victoria farmer in the province I judge it would be a good market for moss or clams. I can tell him that he is not up to the times if he does not know that such a plan as his would make the artisans and citizens of Victoria starve as well as the farmers. He says that he was over the Sound and saw that protection is such a curse there that it is worse than woolly aphids on trees; and that is just why we should not help to put our citizens in such distress here. The only way to keep out of that fix is to patronize home industry, to build up the province by keeping our money here. If that farmer would emigrate to the United States the country would be better off, as there would be more encouragement to put land under cultivation and more laborers employed. I think the pauper labor of the States would suit him as he pretends he can compete with the States in cheap labor. I judge he cannot see as others do with the Liberals' woolpicks on his eyes, or he would give his name plainly to the public. Ignorance only makes faults pardonable, but I trust he will learn better and not tell Col. Prior that he is a farmer in case he should be taken for a Liberal candidate. Since he knows so much about the wants of Victoria and the poverty of the States it seems that he had a taste of it himself, or he would not have got on the right side of protection by coming here. If he thinks he knows more about farming than the Irishman he talks about I would like to call on him so that he could be told something about the farmers of the Province and not make such blunders.

JOSEPH TRACY.

THE LATE FRANK DUNCAN.

TO THE EDITOR:—Will you kindly allow me through the medium of your columns, to express the sincere thanks which my brothers in Vancouver and I myself feel for the very kind assistance rendered by friends of my unfortunate brother Frank, in the search for his body. I must also express the gratitude which I am sure my parents and all those at home will feel for these very kind endeavors, which will at least show them that my poor brother had made for himself friends in this far off country.

THE DEBS APPEAL.

Lines of the Arguments Being Presented to the Superior Court of the United States.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The United States supreme court is now hearing arguments in the case of Eugene V. Debs, president of the American Railway Union, and others. Counsel for the defendants are Lyman Trumbull, S. S. Gregory and C. S. Darrow. Attorney-General Olney, Assistant Attorney-General Whitney, and Edwin Walker, special United States attorney, appeared for the government. Debs and associates ask for a writ of habeas corpus relieving them from the sentence of imprisonment passed upon them by Judge Woods. The fact was developed that the main contention of the petitioners would be that the original bill stated "cognizable in chancery," and therefore the injunction was void, and the persons at whom it was aimed were not bound to observe it. In support of this proposition they asserted that without statutory authority from congress the government could maintain no such bill, and no such authority could be found unless it be in the act of 1890 known as the "Sherman anti-trust act," but they contended that this act was unconstitutional because, involving proceedings in chancery in such a case, it deprived the defendants on trial, under a penal statute, of the right of trial by jury, contrary to the sixth amendment of the constitution.

Assistant Attorney General Whitney, on behalf of the government, said he thought that when the question should be properly ascertained there would be very little difficulty in arriving at a decision. He did not suppose the court would find it necessary to go into the general question of strikes and boycotts, which was an untried field for the supreme court, and involved points on which the courts and the text writers, so far as they had dealt with the matter, were divided. It was therefore unnecessary to consider whether the anti-trust law applies to conspiracy of the kind in which Debs and his associates were engaged. The case was a peculiar one, in that none of the parties to the present case were engaged in the Chicago strike as employees of any of the roads. They had organized for the purpose of boycotting the Pullman company and in doing that proceeded to paralyze the railroad companies, which they were doing when the injunction was issued. The main object of the organization was to secure entire control of the railroads of the country. He dwelt on the great injury done by the strike, which injury, he said, was irreparable, and asked that the court take cognizance of this fact, as it was conceded on all hands. There could hardly be a question that the strike was unlawful in its aspects, in its attempt at boycott, and at controlling by combination the railroad traffic of the country. The real question was as to the jurisdiction of a court of equity, and he contended that it had it in such a case as the present.

Attorney General Olney is his argument said, the single question was whether the court below had jurisdiction in the case, as made out by the original bill. He said that the leading objection was that the United States was without any property interest to be protected by the bill. This objection he disposed of by pointing to the fact that the United States had proprietorship in the mailbags and that in the act of 1890 and the interstate commerce laws passed by congress, interstate railroad transportation had been put into the exclusive keeping of the United States, and all interference with it had been prohibited from any quarter. Mr. Darrow, in closing the argument, said the question involved is not the maintenance of law and order, about which the counsel for the government seemed to be so concerned, but whether a bill of injunction is the proper remedy to be applied. It was a novel proposition, he said, that courts of chancery are charged with the duty of maintaining law and order in the community, and that the exercise of the police power is committed to them. The contentions made by the Attorney-General as to the method of relief open to the petitioners in the case were not new to the counsel for the defence. Their position is that the court below had no jurisdiction over the bill in question and no power to punish as it had pretended to do.

CONCERNING "Inherited," the play with which Miss Maude Granger will open her engagement at the Victoria theatre next Friday night, the Chicago Herald says: "Everything which can be done to make the drama successful is done by Miss Maude Granger. It is nicely staged, handsomely costumed and finely acted. While Miss Granger's part is of course the strongest role in the play, the rest of the cast is by no means to be overlooked. The construction of the drama involves the appearance of many strong characters, and, to Miss Granger's credit be it said, she is surrounded by a company the members of which are individually and collectively artists who render her valuable assistance.

THOSE who follow with interest the rapid development of photographic art, will take particular pleasure in the opalines, specimens of which will be on view at the Savanah studio in a few days. The few that have been already finished are indeed gems, the mechanical accuracy of the photographic portrait being lost in the natural and delicate coloring of the new pictures. Opalines are printed with the carbonette surface and are then finished in the natural colors by the new process, which though a secret one is inexpensive when the merit of the finished picture is taken into consideration. In flesh tinting the new pictures rival for beauty the old and almost priceless porcelains, while for the bringing out of the full effects of lighting and draperies the new process is infinitely superior to water color work, even when the artist is a master of

CONSERVATIVE REUNION.

Several Interesting Addresses at a
Well Attended Meeting Held Last Evening.

Preparations to Be Proceeded With Just as Though Elections
Were at Hand.

The meeting of the Victoria Liberal Conservative Association held last night at the association rooms, Adelphi block, proved as expected, a large and enthusiastic gathering. Although the weather was not inviting, and the indefinite postponement of the elections has naturally lulled political interest, there was as usual a fine attendance, the commodious and comfortable hall being well filled. The President, Mr. E. Crow Baker, who occupied the chair, announced at the outset that there would not be too much business brought forward, so that the evening might be left free for some promised discussion. Thereafter it did not take the association long to decide that the postponement of the elections should not cause an abandonment of active work, but that meetings of the association should continue to be held at regular intervals and that the arrangements of the well-defined plan of campaign will be carried out until the election does come.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to speeches. Messrs. Earle and Prior again expressed their appreciation of the honor which had been conferred upon them in making them the unanimous choice of the convention as the standard bearers for the party in this constituency, and both agreed that come the fight when it may the unanimity and concord in the ranks make success a certainty.

Amongst others who spoke were Senator Macdonald, Messrs. Thos. Brownlee, T. B. Hall, W. Snider, W. H. Ellis, R. W. Roper, Jos. Pierson and H. Dallas Helmcken, M.P.P. The last named, in an address lasting about fifteen minutes, dealt one by one with the allegations the Victoria oppositionists are trying to befool the people with. That there are local grievances he freely admitted; there are bound to be, he said, and there will no doubt continue to be while some men are unreasonable enough to think that the members of parliament can get a government position for every man who wants a job, or compel, or even try to compel a government contractor to employ other men than those he wants. He felt, however, that those who would censure members of parliament for such reasons are very few indeed. (Applause.) He pointed out the fact that no thinking man examining into the rumors circulated by the opposition about the British Pacific, could for a moment believe them to be true, these inventions only showing how devoid of political principle the opposition are when upon the chance of changing a few votes they would resort to such measures. (Applause.) As for the present he, like all other members of the association, believed in keeping up the work and with an increased vim, being satisfied that though victory is sure in any event the more earnest and effective the work the more glorious will be the triumph when election day comes. (Applause.)

The meeting broke up with three cheers for the Queen and for Messrs. Prior and Earle, the standard bearers. The next meeting of the association will be held in two weeks from last night. The Macdonald Club occupy the hall this evening, and they announce an attractive programme.

BRANCHING OUT.

Messrs. R. Porter & Sons to Add to Their Already Extensive Business Interests.

Tenders are invited by an advertisement appearing in this issue bearing the signature of Architect R. B. Payne, for the erection of a substantial brick and stone building for the corner of Government and Courtney streets, recently purchased by these enterprising proprietors of the Island Market from the Hudson's Bay Company. The location is directly opposite the new post office and custom house; tenders are required to be in the hands of the architect by noon of the 30th inst.; and the building will be pushed to completion with the least possible loss of time.

The new block is designed to be a substantial structure of brick and stone, two stories in height. It will be occupied exclusively by the owning firm, who have for some time past contemplated the enlargement of their already extensive business interests and are now moving in this direction. "We are building but two stories high," explained Mr. Porter, jr., in conversation last evening, "because we think that two stories will be sufficient to accommodate the business for the present. If a bigger place is required we will build it. We intend to continue our present business and add several new departments, going into pork-packing, sausage making, etc., on a large scale." Later on we propose to embark in the canning of corned beef, tongues, etc., for we believe we can compete successfully for our own trade in these manufactured food products against Chicago and St. Louis. The protective tariff of 25 per cent. gives us a margin to work on—a bare margin and not enough to enable us to make large profits—and will, we think, enable us to compete on ground that will bear a trial, with the big houses. Of course the prosecution of these new industries will mean the consumption of large numbers of cattle and sheep, and their establishment will naturally encourage cattle and sheep ranching." Messrs. Porter & Sons are among the pioneers in their line of industry in British Columbia, the Island market being known

The Leander eight, composed of the best oars of Oxford and Cambridge Universities, will be in the race. IN PHILHARMONIC HALL.

A Musical Evening in Aid of the King's Road Mission.

There was a very slim audience in Philharmonic hall last night at the concert in aid of King's road mission. The rain and counter attractions no doubt were accountable for this, for the programme prepared was a good one. The part songs by a male chorus of fourteen voices, under direction of Mr. Wm. Greig, made one of the chief attractions. "The Rhine," a bright, cheery piece, was one of their best. "Nicht," Chwatal, was of a softer strain, nicely modulated and pleasant to hear. These were only two of the selections given by the choir who kindly came to the rescue, as Mr. and Mrs. Clement Rowlands whose names were on the programme were unable to attend. Mrs. Helmcken appeared once in a solo and again in a duet, "Herald of Spring," delightfully rendered with Mr. W. R. Higgins. Mr. Higgins' "Bonnie Sweet Bessie" was so "bonnie" that he had to respond to an encore. Mrs. D. R. Harris pleasingly sang "Schneewittch" with violin obligato by Mr. Sharp. Miss Strachan and Mr. Allan gave recitations that evoked hearty applause, and Prof. Bradley's violin solo was very well received and deservedly so. The Euphonium Orchestra opened the concert with "Poet and Peasant," and during the evening played a selection from Maritana and the gavotte "Queen Bess," Gautier. The orchestra have improved somewhat since their last previous appearance. Some of their playing was very good, and Mr. Wickens deserves credit and encouragement in his undertaking to give Victoria an amateur orchestra.

MARINE MOVEMENTS.

The Pacific Coast Steamship Co. Settle the "Idaho" Case—The Sailors' Union Trouble.

New Boat for the Kootenay Service—Progress of Salvagers at Trial Island.

The old case of the United States v. the steamship Idaho for smuggling was dismissed in the United States court at Seattle pursuant to a warrant from the secretary of the treasury, remitting the penalty upon the payment by the Pacific Coast Steamship company of a fine of $1,000 and $1,200 fee and costs, aggregating $2,411.10. This suit was originally commenced in the territorial court, in which the United States secured judgment against the claimant and stipulators in the sum of $30,000 upon a conviction for smuggling. The case was appealed to the supreme court of the territory, and, upon the organization of the federal court, was transferred from the supreme court of the state to the circuit court of the United States for the district of Washington, and upon the trial the judgment of the territorial district court was affirmed. The proceedings on Monday were practically a compromise upon a showing made by the claimant, the Pacific Coast Steamship Company. It will be remembered that the Idaho was sunk about six years ago in the Straits.

A PIONEER CAPTAIN.

The following is from the St. Paul Pioneer-Press: "One of the two oldest river captains in the far West, Capt. J. D. Miller, of the Kootenay country, called at Great Northern headquarters yesterday. He passed through St. Paul in 1848 just before the California gold fever broke out, and crossed the plains to the coast in six months with oxen. Since then he never returned to St. Paul until yesterday. He has served as captain of steamers on the Pend d'Oreille, the Willamette, the Columbia, the Clark's Fork, the Snake, the East Kootenay and other rivers, and now runs the steamer Halys from Bonner's Ferry to Kaslo. As soon as he gets machinery from St. Paul and Stillwater he will refit and rechristen the steamer Pend d'Oreille, which he also runs from Newport, Idaho, to Box Canyon, Wash. He will call this steamer the Metairie, since its course is through the Metairie territory. Capt. Miller has with him some remarkable specimens of ore from Eastern Washington."

THE WAGES QUESTION.

The fight between the Sailors' Union and Shipowners' Association assumed a new phase at Seattle on Monday when Captain Ross, of the schooner Fred E. Sander, who is a member of the Shipowners' Association, signed a union crew at $35 per month, and the union is jubilant over the fact, which it considers a victory. Agent Garrison, of the Shipowners' Association, yesterday said to a Post-Intelligencer reporter that he knew nothing officially about the signing of the crew of the Sander. He said he can get all the men he desires for $30, and has signed two crews this week at those figures. Several sea captains said that if non-union men go over to the union and demand $35 or $40 a month, the owners will tie the ships up rather than run their vessels at a loss.

THURSTON ON HIS DIGNITY.

Having Been Called Objectionable He Will Not Say Goodbye to Secretary Gresham.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The state department professes to have received no intimation from Mr. Thurston, minister of the Republic of Hawaii to the United States, or anyone authorized to speak for him, that he will leave Washington to-morrow to return to Honolulu. This is not entirely an unusual proceeding, although some notification is generally given the department of the departure of a foreign minister. It is likely that in the course of a day or two Mr. Hastings, secretary of the legation, will inform Secretary Gresham that he will be in charge of Hawaiian affairs in Washington during the absence of his chief. It is certain that Mr. Thurston will not call at the State department to make his adieu. A steamer from Honolulu will be due in San Francisco to-morrow and this is expected to bring the answer of the Hawaiian government to the demand for Mr. Thurston's recall. There is said to be some possibility that Mr. Thurston may become minister of foreign affairs in the Hawaiian cabinet. In such an event it is highly probable that Minister Willis would be found persona non grata to the Hawaiian secretary, and in this way the Hawaiian diplomat will be able to return a Roland for an Oliver. Mrs. Thurston will not accompany her husband to Honolulu.

VERY ANCIENT CLAIMS.

An Award Against Venezuela for an Overt Act of Twenty-four Years Ago.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The United States and Venezuelan claims commission made an award to-day at the bureau of American republics in favor of the United States for $141,000 without interest as indemnity for the Venezuelan Steam Transportation Company of New York, whose steamers, the Hero, San Bernardino and Nutena, were seized on the Orinoco in 1871; and $300, with interest from that time, for each of the companies' officers at Port Sturges and Mauribus.

The defence of the Venezuelan government was that the Blues who seized the steamers were insurgent enemies beyond its control. It was claimed for the United States that there was no war in the sense of the law of nations at the time, and the government of Venezuela was warned of the danger and should have prevented the seizure by due diligence, and that it also failed in its duty by not punishing the wrong doers.

Mr. Grip, the Swedish minister, who was president of the commission, joined with Mr. Jeffries, the United States commissioner, in holding Venezuela liable, but reduced the damages far below the amount which in Mr. Jeffries' opinion would have been justified by the evidence.

Mr. Andrade, the Venezuelan minister, will file a dissenting opinion on the question of Venezuelan liability for the acts of the Blues. The case was very elaborately argued on both sides, Mr. Alex. Porter Morse and Judge J. M. Wilson opening for the complainant, and being followed by Mr. S. Phillips for the Venezuelan government.

Armenian Prisoners.

LONDON, March 26.—In the House of Commons yesterday Francis B. Stevenson called the attention of the government to the statement that there are three thousand Armenians confined in Turkish prisons. Sir Edward Grey, under foreign secretary, said there is no reason to suppose that the number is anywhere near so large. The government have had no precise information as to how many prisoners have been released under the Sultan's decree relating to Ecclesiastical prisoners, but they rely on the good faith of the Porte to carry out the terms of the decree.

The Disorderly Officers.

LONDON, March 26.—The Central News correspondent in Madrid says: "Strong public resentment is felt still on account of the officers' riots. The officers are biased frequently when they enter cafes or music halls. The whole affair has had a bad influence on the ranks. The non-commissioned officers and privates are returning late from their furloughs and are inclined to be defiant."

Spain's New Ministers.

MADRID, March 26.—The government has accepted the resignation of the ministers in London and Washington. Count Casa Valencia and Senor Dupuy de Lorme will probably be their successors. General Germain is likely to replace Captain-General Calleja in Cuba.

Bi-Metallic League.

PARIS, March 26.—A national bi-metallic league has been formed here, with ex-Premier Roubet as president. Among the vice-presidents are M. Magnin, governor of the Bank of France; M. de Normandie, president of the Comptoir d'Escompte, and Deputy Meline. The main feature of the league's programme is the plan to open direct relations with foreign bi-metallic leagues.

Extraordinary Surgical Operation—

—The Cuban War.

The "St. Paul" Launching—Contest
ing Fred Douglass' Will—In Criminal Courts.

Surgical Progress.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 26.—George Clulinski, aged 28, had a difficult operation performed on him Saturday in St. Joseph's hospital. He was suffering from a cancer of the bones in the right side of his face. Dr. R. W. Johnson successfully removed the upper portion of his face and jaw bones. In order that he might breathe while the operation was going on, a tube was placed in his wind pipe, his mouth was then packed with an absorbent and the face sawed through and totally disconnected from right eye and nose. The whole right side of his face was taken away with the right half of the roof of the mouth and also the teeth on that side. He will recover.

The Kentucky Plan.

GLASGOW, Ky., March 26.—The attorney for John Wilson, a horse thief, pleaded for mercy, Saturday, as Wilson's wife and baby were penniless. The jury found Wilson guilty, imposed a sentence of two years' imprisonment, and gave $60 to the judge for Wilson's wife.

Jamaican Oranges.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The United States consul at Kingston, Jamaica, in a report to the state department quotes Governor Blake, of Jamaica, as saying in his annual message that he has received applications from Florida for information as to the prospects of orange-growing in Jamaica, from persons whose groves have been ruined by severe frosts. The governor speaks of the excellence of the Jamaican orange, grown without cultivation or care, and says it is evident that Jamaica could with systematic cultivation produce enormous crops of oranges, lemons, grape and shaddock equal in quality to that of any fruit in the American or European markets.

A Dissatisfied Senator.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Senator Murugua, the Spanish minister, has been advised by his government of the acceptance of his resignation, which, as before reported, was retendered by Senator Murugua after the establishment of the new Spanish government.

Twelve Millions in the Dock.

NEW YORK, March 26.—A dispatch from Butte, Mont., announces that Henry L. Haupt, president of the Montana Mining, Loan and Investment company, is on trial in the U. S. court in that city on the charge of sending "non-mailable" matter through the post. The company claims to have a paid up capital stock of $12,000,000.

Cuban Disorders.

HAVANA, March 26.—Col. Santosildes, who commands the government forces at Manzanillo, reports that yesterday troops under Col. Araza attacked and dispersed rebel bands at Juraguana and Cayo Camacho. The bands were 500 strong and were commanded by Guerra Guardia Reitor. Fifteen rebels were killed and many others wounded. The government forces lost one officer killed and two privates wounded. The rebels left behind a large quantity of ammunition and small arms. The same government troops also dispersed a party of rebels at San Ramon on March 22, losing one officer killed and three privates wounded. A report from Holguin says that insurgents under Maseo Miro Manana are approaching the place. The force is three hundred strong and well armed.

Hooded by Poor Tallow.

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—By reason of the poor quality of the tallow to be used upon the ways, 25,000 people were disappointed to-day in their expectation of seeing the International navigation company's second new steamship, the St. Paul, launched, as the big vessel stuck, and despite every effort it could not be started from the stocks into the river. After two hours spent in the effort to start the ship, President Charles H. Cramp, of the Cramp ship building company, reluctantly announced to the people on the guests' stand that the attempt to launch the St. Paul would be abandoned to-day, as even if they could start her by continuing at work with the hydraulic jacks and tugs, the launch might result disastrously to the vessel the tide having turned.

Another Chance.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Wm. H. Cochran, president, and R. H. Sayer, assistant cashier of the National Bank of Delmonte, Col., convicted of the charge of making a false entry with intent to deceive the controller of the currency and sentenced to five years' imprisonment each, will get a new trial by virtue of a decision made by the supreme court of the U. S.

To Make Reparation.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Honduras has promised the United States to act promptly concerning the murder of Mr. Renton, the American who was assassinated in that country. A telegram to this effect has been received by Secretary Gresham from the U. S. minister to Honduras.

Goulds Travelling Westward.

ST. LOUIS, March 26.—Miss Helen M. Gould, escorted by Dr. John P. Munn and a party of friends, arrived here last evening and remained until this evening, when they left over the Iron Mountain railway for California.

The Douglass Estate.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Mrs. Rosetta D. Sprague, eldest child of the late Frederick Douglass and wife of Nathan Sprague of this city, filed a petition to-day in the Probate court in which she charges Mrs. Helen Douglass, her stepmother, and Lewis N. Douglas, her brother, with unlawfully retaining possession of her father's property, and requests the court to grant her letters testamentary upon the estate. She further asks that temporarily the court appoint a collector to take charge of the property, and compel her brother and stepmother to make a full and complete discovery and delivery of the estate.

Big Store Burned.

CHICAGO, March 26.—The Bell, a retail clothing store at Quincy and State streets, was burned this afternoon. The store was filled at the time, but all the customers escaped uninjured. C. A. Smith, a clerk, jumped from a second story window and was severely injured. The loss will be $20,000 on stock and $25,000 on the building, fully covered by insurance.

Chris, Now Free.

ST. LOUIS, March 26.—Mrs. Chris. Vonderab secured a decree of divorce from her husband to-day.

Board of Irrigation.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—By order of the secretaries of agriculture and the interior, a board of irrigation has been constituted to harmonize the work of the various government bureaus now dealing with this subject, and to promote efficiency in developing the arid region of the West. Chief Harrington, of the weather bureau, was chosen chairman, and F. H. Newell, of the geological survey, secretary at the meeting to-day.

Jamaican Duties Increased.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The department of state has received a report from Consul Eekford, at Kingston, Jamaica, enclosing a copy of the message of the governor of the island to the legislative council. The governor says: "The withdrawal of the government of the United States of America from the reciprocal arrangement with this colony, entered into in 1891, and the reimposition of the duty on sugar, leaves us free to restore to our tariff some of the sources of revenue abandoned under the arrangement." He also encloses a tariff revision introduced into the legislative council, which in some instances increases the duties upon many articles that are imported exclusively from the United States. He encloses the new tariff as published in the daily papers. Wheat is increased from 6d. to 9d. per bushel; sugar is rated at 10s. per hundred pounds.

Mrs. Bryant's Will.

SEATTLE, March 26.—A copy of the will of wealthy Ida M. Bryant, of Portland, who died at Redlands, San Bernardino county, Cal., in December last, together with the petition of Fred W. Barker, asking that R. W. Emmons be made administrator to look after the Seattle property of the deceased, valued at $18,000, has been filed in the probate department of the Superior Court. The deceased directs that her mother, Julia E. Bilson, be paid $75 a month for the rest of her natural life, and that she be given $5,000 of a $15,000 note held by the deceased against W. J. Adams, of San Francisco, dated January 1, 1894. Also a one-half interest in several lots in this city. The husband is bequeathed a house and two lots in Portland.

The deceased directs her executors to lay aside $75 per month to be spent in the interest of her son, Blinn S. Bryant, until he is 21 years of age. There is also to be spent $300 for his education, and he receives the remaining $10,000 interest in the San Francisco note.

A Threatened Man.

OMAHA, Neb., March 26.—Jas. Casey, one of the charter members of the A. R. U., said to-day concerning John M. Egan, applicant for the receivership of the Oregon short line: "I do not speak from the inside, but only as an observer. I know, as does every Western union man of experience, that Egan's life would be insecure if he stopped in Oregon. I predict that if he stays there as receiver he will be killed within a few months. There are men walking this earth to-day who believe Egan represents in his personality all that has brought them to want and woe."

Relief for Nebraska.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 26.—Governor Holcombe to-day signed the bill passed by the legislature appropriating $200,000 for the purpose of supplying seed grain and food for the drought-stricken farmers of Western Nebraska. The law becomes immediately operative.

New Orleans Rioters.

NEW ORLEANS, March 26.—The men indicted last week by the grand jury on the charge of murdering the negroes on the Harrison line wharf, are now safely incarcerated in the parish prison as the crime with which they are charged is not bailable under the laws of Louisiana. Their troubles, however, have only begun, and it is said upon reliable information that the grand jury will return further indictments against them, charging shooting with intent to kill in each case.

Christian Science Victim.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 26.—Mrs. A. C. Baird, a prominent citizen and Christian scientist, is in custody here in connection with the death of Harvey M. Bosworth, vice-president of the Beatham Manufacturing Co. He died last Saturday after having been for six days in charge of the Christian scientists, and when the two doctors were called in he was dying and unconscious.

THE ENDS OF THE EARTH.

How United States Mail Matter is Made to Get There With Promptness.

(From the New York Recorder.)
Eighty per cent. of our foreign mail matter passes through the New York post office. In the nature of things, the handling of letters addressed to and received from foreign ports has many features of interest with which the general public is unfamiliar. The cosmopolitan character of the population of all great American cities is brought out in strong relief; but the most pregnant suggestion of all is the real proximity into which modern commerce, assisted by the steam engine, has brought the most diverse races and seaports most distant from one another.

In the New York post office is a department given up entirely to the sending out of foreign mails. The heaviest go to England and Germany. But there are few centers of savage or civilized populations that are not communicated with at one time or another during the course of a year. A mail bag to Sandy Point, Patagonia, will be carefully stowed away on a Brazilian steamship, taken first to Rio Janeiro, thence to Buenos Ayres, the metropolis of the Argentine Republic.

So far, its trip will be commonplace enough. At Buenos Ayres it will wait for some British coasting vessel—all the South American coasting vessels are British—and will be slowly forwarded to its destination. If the "tramp" steamship has occasion to land anything at Sandy Point, this Yankee mail bag will go too. If not, it may lie aboard the coaster until the next trip. Our government is so occupied with more important things that it cannot afford time to look after these stray mails.

Rio and Buenos Ayres mails will be shipped on the same line to these ports. In the one case, representatives of the New Brazilian Republic will take out the letters and hold them for individual owners to make their claim. In the other, a carrier system is in operation, and the letters will go off more rapidly, though not as quickly as in a United States city of the same size. There are more letters from this country for Buenos Ayres than for any other city in South America, and, of course, most of them are of a commercial nature.

"Monrovia, Liberia"—Here is a bag for the little African colony established long before the war by people who held slaves in this country and regarded the exportation and colonization of the Ethiopians in the United States as the only way of getting rid of the blot on the national escutcheon. There are not many letters for that country now, but a few come and go. It will go via London by a British packet line, "taking in" Lisbon on the way. The packet will be loaded with beads and trinkets, gunpowder and cotton cloth, and on its return will carry some gold and much ivory. The time from New York to Monrovia is twenty-eight days, and the voyage down the African coast often takes much longer than has been figured on.

Here is a packet for St. Petersburg. It will be twelve days before it reaches the Russian capital. Its route will be via London to the Hague, across Holland, through a corner of France, over the broad territory of the German Fatherland, and so to Russia. When it comes into the hands of the Russian officials this bag will be subjected to the closest scrutiny. The Czar's post office discusses the American mails and applies to them a censorship fully as severe as those which come from England have to undergo. Voe to the unlucky subject to whom has been directed some letter with invidious political significance. The executive process is ready to railroad him to Siberia. But the surveillance under which the mails are handled are so well known to intelligent nihilists that there are few slips of this description.

"Cape Town"—How would you reach the southernmost point of the Dark Continent? Uncle Sam's mails take a round-about course and occupy about thirty days in making the trip. This bag will go first to London, then to Lisbon, through the Straits of Gibraltar, and along the storied Mediterranean, through the Suez Canal, and then down the east coast of Africa.

Surrounded by Equinox, with an iceberg for a background, the Greenlanders would read his communication from his fellow Scandinavian in Wisconsin, United States of America. He would not take his gloves off, and those only who are tolerably familiar with the curious tongue of these people may be inclined to think him wise in handling it with anything but bare hands.

The great cities of Asia are generally reached on the old plan, "via Liverpool." Here is a package for Bombay; there is another for Calcutta. Both will go from the English seaport to Brindisi by rail after crossing the channel. At Brindisi, under the Union Jack, they will sail for the Suez canal. Stopping at Aden, the ship will arrive at Bombay in twenty-seven days, and it will take thirty to get to Calcutta. There is a trade's more originality in getting to Peking and Yokohama.

One of the longest trips made by letters mailed from the United States is that to the Falkland islands, which takes forty-two days by way of Liverpool and Lisbon.

The shortest trip across either ocean is that from New York to Liverpool, which is often made in less than six days. We send specially addressed letters to Havana by the Ward line from New York, but the regular Havana mail goes by way of the Plant line from Tampa, Fla.

Although the foreign mail service gives many hints as to the actual condition of the foreign commerce of the United States—hints not calculated to stir the patriotic enthusiasm of Americans. The question as to what can be done to remedy national deficiency in this field is often complicated with party politics. The difficulty lies "way down at the roots of things," as Lowell would say, for Yankee capitalists do not care to invest their money in enterprises that will not pay at least 5 per cent., while it is stated as a fact that the Cunard line, probably the most prosperous of the almost innumerable British carrying concerns, has paid an average of less than 3 per cent. for the past fifteen years.

The World's Fair Tests showed no baking powder so pure or so great in leavening power as the Royal.

The wall paper season has commenced. Those who are contemplating a "clean up" cannot do better than see Weller's stock.

POWER OF HYPNOTISM.

Subject Discussed by the Professional Woman's League—"Tribly."

NEW YORK, March 26.—A majority of the members of the Professional Woman's League who attended the weekly meeting declared at the close of an animated discussion their intention of arraying their efforts against the wave of hypnotism which is sweeping over the land. This determination was not arrived at without a struggle. The members listened first to a favorable analysis of the subject of hypnotism and its phenomena, presented in a paper written by Dr. R. Ogden Mason, a painstaking student of the new psychology as presented by the London Society of Psychological Research. The paper was read by the presiding officer, Miss Ada Blocker Winnie, and was termed "Tribly—a Psychological Study."

Mrs. Ida Jeffreys Goodfriend gave it as her opinion that hypnotism was dangerous, and should be regulated by laws so as to make it a criminal offense to hypnotize persons without their consent.

"If we stand on a 'high spiritual plane,'" put in Mrs. Bishop, "we can stand firm and not allow anybody to hypnotize us. If anybody wishes us evil, we can wish them so much good that it will kill all the evil."

Mrs. Rachel McAuley said: "I fear we are making grave mistakes. We condone the sin itself seem mitigated. No book has caused so much discussion as 'Tribly.' People give themselves away, so to speak, in their expressions of opinion about it. It is very easy to see their trend of thought in these expressions. I don't like hypnotism. I think it is a power from the evil one. I would rather anybody steal my money than my individuality, which is what these hypnotizers do."

Miss Sarah Palmer declared that all had moments of weakness, when they could be conquered. "We must hold this thing off. It is a power for evil."

Miss Winnie closed the meeting, saying that the sense of the meeting was that hypnotism was a dangerous power, one to be studied, but not dabbled with, and everybody applauded her.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 26.—Dr. R. J. Tripple, a leading physician here, has created a sensation in the medical profession by curing a man who had been bitten by a mad dog by hypnotic influences. The wound was a week old, and the patient was in a frenzied condition bordering on madness.

HOW THE FRENCH ARE TAXED.

Revenue Derived from the People in Every Conceivable Way.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—People who take exception to the income tax and the few internal revenue taxes imposed in the United States, may take some satisfaction in learning how much worse off the French are, as disclosed in a report to the state department by United States Consul Wiley at Bordeaux. He shows that every form of legal paper, checks, notes and documents, bills of lading, even lithograph posters, must have a revenue stamp affixed. From this source the treasury draws its principal revenue, amounting last year to $140,000,000. The spirit and wine tax amounted to $120,000,000. The custom house receipts were $100,000,000. Tobacco, matches, playing cards and other government monopolies included $180,000,000. Sugar paid an internal revenue tax of .052 cents per pound—$29,000,000 in all. The land tax brought in $39,000,000, and personal property $28,000,000. If a clerk occupied a hall room he pays a tax of $2 per annum, while his landlady not only has to pay for her poodle, but far every door and window in the house.

As the treasury receives $12,000,000 per annum for windows alone, the architect who can design a house with the least possible amount of ventilation does the best business. If you own a horse, carriage, billiard table or bicycle you are taxed. The government collects $6,400,000 annually for permitting such luxuries to exist, and a bill was recently introduced in the chamber to tax the wearing of corsets. Business licenses bring in $24,000,000 per annum.

As to expenditures, the interest on the national debt is $270,000,000, and the maintenance of the 580,000 men in the army, for which the French are ruining themselves, costs $130,000,000. The navy costs $50,000,000 each year, and it costs $12,000,000 to run the government match, tobacco and card factories, for individuals can not make or sell these things. Salaries cost $2,600,000 for the President, Senators and Chamberlains, and the President's salary is $240,000 per annum—nearly five times as great as our own President's salary, and the French executive has a seven years' term. The judiciary costs $8,000,000, and, as the state also pays the priests, $9,000,000 goes to that account. The foreign office and diplomatic service cost $4,000,000, and when it comes to public works not less than $40,000,000 is spent annually, making our river and harbor and public building appropriations seem ridiculously small. There are many other items of expense, requiring the exercise of ingenuity to devise new taxes from time to time, and how long the French can continue to support such an expensive establishment is a matter of speculation.

THE BENEFITS OF FACTORIES.

(From the Frederickton Gleaner.)
The Finance Minister made an admirable point in his speech on Wednesday evening last, when he explained the great advantages which ensued to the people in the country districts in the establishment of factories in towns and cities near by. The factories call for the employment of a large number of men and women. These have families to support, which must come to reside in the town or city where the heads are employed. Other young men and girls come in for work, and they go to private boarding houses and hotels. All of these people must be clothed, they must eat to exist. Here then is a larger market for the merchants, and a very much larger market for the farmer for all that he produces. The object of the policy of the government of which the finance minister is a leading member is to encourage the establishing of industrial enterprises; to manufacture not only what our own people want, but what other countries require. One example of the many at hand is sufficient to show the great difference between the Conservative policy and the policy of the Liberal party. Under the Mackenzie regime Canadians imported their sugar manufactured and ready for the table. The only employment this trade gave Canadians was to those who hauled the sugar from the vessel to the store, and to those who measured it out to the consumer from the barrel to the paper bag. Under the policy of the Conservative party the sugar is imported in its raw state. Thousands of Canadians are furnished with employment in the process of manufacture; thousands of Canadians are supplied with work in manufacturing the wood for the barrels, thousands in preparing the iron hoops which bind the barrels together.

French Treasurers.

LONDON, March 26.—Advices from Akazza, Morocco, are that two large French expeditions have entered the British Niger territory. This action on the part of the French is a breach of the Anglo-French treaty of 1890.
